A PROPOSAL FOR MARK LYNCH

THREE VENUES, THREE SITES

Walker's Overlook and Dulany's Overlook, finally separated, each on the address you already own. Plus the Hagerstown venue when the partnership is ready.

OCTOBER 28, 2026

THE IDEA

You already told me what this is for.

On the phone you said the website and social stuff needs some love, so you could be busier. That is the whole job, and it is the only thing I am measuring this against.

> "We are busy, which is good, but we also know that a lot of our social media and website stuff needs a lot of love. It needs some love so we could be busier."

You are not starting from a weak spot. Both farms are booked, Dulany's and Walker's are running neck and neck this year, and couples are finding you through Instagram and through Google. What they are not doing is finding you through the website. By your own count, about seven out of every ten inquiries come from somewhere else. That gap is the opportunity, and it is the number I want to move.

Right now Walker's and Dulany's share one address and one story, and they are not one story. Walker's is a tent for 275 on a hardwood floor, a walnut tree to stand under, a stone colonial house, and the mancave. Dulany's is a barn for 200, a rose garden or the woodland, a barn bar, and 170 acres around it. Those are two completely different weddings. A couple choosing between them should feel that difference in about four seconds, and right now they cannot.

So here is the plan. Two sites, on the two addresses you already own, each telling its own farm's story with its own photographs and its own inquiry form landing in your inbox. Eight coordinators who handle everything, said out loud instead of buried. And when the Hagerstown partnership is ready, it gets its own site, standing completely on its own, exactly the way you described it.

THE WORK

Everything below is included, start to finish.

WALKER'S OVERLOOK

Its own site on walkersoverlook.com. The tent, the hardwood floor, the walnut tree, the stone house, the vintage car, the mancave. Built around a wedding for 275.

Opens on film that moves as you scroll.

DULANY'S OVERLOOK

Its own site on dulanysoverlook.com, with its own look and its own voice. The barn, the bar, the rose garden, the woodland, and the 170 acres they sit on.

A separate website, not a copy of the first.

THE HAGERSTOWN VENUE

A third site that stands alone and does not fall under The Overlooks at all, the way you described it. Its own name, its own look, its own front door.

Built once the partnership is signed.

LOGOS

You mentioned you never really landed on a logo. I will design options for each venue, so the site, the signs, and the Instagram posts finally match each other.

Included in the price, not an extra.

INQUIRIES THAT REACH YOU

A date-first inquiry form on each site that emails you the moment a couple sends it, and sends them a warm reply while they are still excited. Ready to hand off to Breeze whenever you want it to.

Still just to you, the way you like it for now.

GOOGLE AND THE CLEANUP

Set up so each farm turns up for its own name and for Frederick County wedding searches. Every old link forwarded so nothing you have built gets lost, and the leftover Serenity Overlook mentions finally gone.

Fixes Dulany's page showing Walker's address, too.

WALK THROUGH WALKER'S

WALK THROUGH DULANY'S

Both are already built and live. Scroll them on your phone.

THE INVESTMENT

Three ways to do this. Pick the one that fits.

ONE VENUE FIRST

$6,500

one-time

- Walker's or Dulany's, your pick
- Its own domain and its own look
- Logo options for that venue
- Inquiry form to your inbox
- Google setup, old links forwarded
- Hosting at $0 a month

RECOMMENDED

BOTH OVERLOOKS

$12,500

one-time

- Walker's and Dulany's, fully separated
- Both domains, two distinct identities
- Logo options for both venues
- Your photographers' images pulled into one consistent look
- Inquiry forms on both
- Google setup, redirects, Serenity cleanup
- A page you update yourselves

ALL THREE

$17,500

one-time

- Everything in Both Overlooks
- The Hagerstown venue, standing alone
- Its own name, logo, and look
- Starts when the partnership is signed
- That third site billed when it begins

Hosting is $0 a month on all of them, which is less than B12 is costing you today.

WHAT IT HAS TO EARN

A Saturday at either farm is $9,500. Friday is $8,000, Sunday $7,000.

So Both Overlooks pays for itself with roughly one and a half extra Saturdays. Not every year. Once.

Everything after that is the part where you are busier.

HOW IT GOES

Built over your quiet season, live long before April.

1 YOU SEND ME TWO THINGS

The sites you liked when you looked around, and the questionnaire that came with this. That is where I get the design direction and the details I still need.

2 PHOTOS AND LOGINS, BY NOVEMBER 21

Your photo library, a written OK from the photographers who are contributing, and the B12 and GoDaddy logins. This is the one date that matters. Everything after it waits on it.

3 FIRST LOOK IN DECEMBER

Both sites, real content, on your own phone. You tell me what is wrong and I fix it. Logo options come with this.

4 LIVE IN JANUARY

Both farms go live on their own addresses with every old link forwarded safely. That gives you February and March to show them off, and the whole booking season ahead when you open in April.

THE FINE PRINT

To book: a third to start, a third at the first look in December, a third at launch. On Both Overlooks that is $4,167 three times.

This quote holds for: 30 days from the date on the cover.

Photos: I will need a short written OK from each photographer who contributes, even just an email reply saying the venues can use their images on the websites. Photographers own their wedding photos even when it is your property in the frame, and venues get caught out on this more often than you would think. Every contributing photographer gets credit on the site, which is usually why they say yes.

If photos run late: the schedule moves, the payment dates do not. Projects like this stall waiting on images more than anything else, which is why November 21 is in here on purpose.

Revisions: two full rounds on each site are included, which is more than almost anyone uses. Past that it is $95 an hour.

Hagerstown: quoted here so you have the number, but it does not start and is not billed until the partnership is signed and there is a name to build around.

Usage: the sites and the logos are yours outright. Perkins Production may show the work in its portfolio.

NEXT STEP

Send the questionnaire back and we can start this week.
